Debtor Education

All consumers who have already filed for bankruptcy must complete an individual personal financial management course and receive a Certificate of Debtor Education before their case can be discharged. Through our relationship with your attorney, we offer you an efficient and convenient way to complete this requirement.

The education course will take you a minimum of two hours to complete and includes a pre-test, eight chapters of material, a post-test and survey.

At the completion of the course, we will provide you and your attorney with a copy of the Certificate of Debtor Education to file with the court. In addition to your Social Security Number, you will need your attorney's firm code and your 7 digit bankruptcy case number. If you are filing jointly, you will also need your co-debtor's Social Security number.
